Deploying backend services to

21 actions

The migrated app is running, and all 44 existing backend tests pass. I'm now checking the rendered pages and the review-to-submission flow, including navigation, saved state, and application packets.

24 actions

The browser checks passed: all four pages load, navigation works on desktop and mobile, and a separate test organization completed review, sign-off, and submission with the result preserved after reload. The app also retains the original styling and fonts.
